

What is this?

My project idea, at the moment, is to create a disposable income calculator mainly for those who are new to the workforce and may not know how to manage an income or are just bad at math. I also want to give the option to break it out by day, week, month & year.

Note: I actually found one online after I thought of the idea to see if it already exists and it does. It would operate similarly I suppose, but it looks super shitty (<http://www.disposableincome.net/>)

- I also want to create a “planner” section. The user would be able to enter a specific budget, for example $3,000 for a vacation or something, and I want to provide a section where they can calculate out a plan of how much they would need to save and for how long based off of their current expenses. I think it would be cool to make this adjustable as well (IF they save $100 per week how long would it take to save taking into account their current expenses vs. if they saved $50 per week etc.)
 - I also was thinking of doing a login so that users could create a profile and save their information? If not a login, then I was thinking maybe an exportable file or something.
- Slide 2 is supposed to be a layout, but I’m not really sure how I want to layout the site yet. Slide 2 is extremely rough.
